welcome

Authentic, original craftsmanship.

It's the only way we know.

After all, when we are working on a building that is part – however grand or modest – of this country's enviable heritage, it would be unthinkable for us to provide anything less.

That's not to say that we have forsaken progress. Indeed, we have spent a great deal of time working energy-efficiency, security and fire safety measures into our designs.

So when you choose Lattice for your windows you can be sure that you are selecting the best combination of craftsmanship, style and durability.

Restoring – Some of the finest buildings in Britain owe the superb condition of their original windows to our craftsmen. When originality really matters, we are the perfect choice.

Replacing - Whether you select directly from our range, or choose to have perfect replicas made of your existing fittings and ironwork, you can be sure that our windows will complement your home perfectly.

Creating - When you are building a home that is truly special, it is reassuring to know that the design, materials and craftsmanship of the windows will endure for generations to come.

cottage style

Charming, original and enduring. Our Cottage range has been created from a classic design, using carefully balanced proportions and materials that fit right in with the stone or brickwork of any country cottage.

The wooden frames are hand-crafted from oak or a choice of other high quality, sustainable hardwoods. The steel casements and the window furniture can be selected from our attractive range (see page 16) or custom made by our blacksmith to match your original windows. Whether your situation demands energy-efficient double-glazed units or traditional panes of glass, the cottage range offers a choice of finishes that are sure to blend in with your home.

We can make your windows using a variety of hardwoods.

Window locks can be concealed in many latches.

We offer a range of finishes for the wood and the metal so you can find the perfect balance of longevity, looks and ease of maintenance.

Traditional craftsmanship combined with modern technology.

traditional style

Attractive, versatile and durable. Whether you need to preserve the period charm of a country cottage or want to complement the character of a distinctive new-build, our Traditional range offers the beauty and flexibility of an all-timber window.

Available in a choice of Oak or other sustainable hardwoods, these windows can be finished with an appropriate choice of window furniture and wood treatments to keep them looking just the way you want, year in year out.

Our Traditional windows are all made to measure. They can feature leaded or plain glass; single or double glazed panels; and are designed to meet all the latest regulations for fire safety and energy efficiency.

From the choice of timber through to the wood working, assembly, fitting and finishing; our attention to detail shows through every time you look at your heritage windows.

A wide range of fittings from traditional to modern styles

manor ogee

Understated, timeless grandeur. For period properties on a larger scale, our Manor Ogee range offers a design drawn from the windows of the archetypal English manor house.

With their somewhat larger oak frames, the proportions of our Manor Ogee windows work perfectly with more substantial buildings. None the less, the intricacy of the woodwork and other detailing means that they are never overwhelming or intrusive. As with all our windows, they can be installed with a variety of different glazing options and window furniture, so you can achieve the perfect balance of traditional looks with modern security and energy-efficiency.

We offer a range of finishes for the wood and the metal so you can find the perfect balance of longevity, looks and ease of maintenance.

Distinctive, original and flexible. Our steel windows help restore the classic good looks of any stone surround or wooden frame. Their tremendous flexibility means they can be made to fit perfectly into any shape and size of aperture.

We offer an attractive selection of steel frames, suitable for just about every property. However our craftsmen, who make every steel frame by hand, can also create new designs or make precise replicas of your existing windows.

Our steel frames are many times stronger than other window materials and we add rust treatments and finishes that protect them effectively over the course of the years. They can be fitted with a choice of single or double glazing and a variety of standard or custom-made window furniture.

Our craftsmen custom make every one of our windows for a perfect fit.

Fittings and furniture in various finishes to complement all styles of window.

Our craftsmen can also provide exterior doors that provide all the durability and security that you would expect, using designs and materials that fit in with your new windows and preserve the appearance of your property.

We use aesthetically appropriate door furniture and incorporate locks and fittings that comply with the latest fire safety and security standards.

We offer a range of finishes for the wood and the metal so you can find the perfect balance of longevity, looks and ease of maintenance.

glazing options

No matter which style of window you prefer, we can incorporate attractive, appropriate glazing into our designs. In keeping with the age of your home, and in line with the latest applicable building regulations, we can provide traditional single or highly efficient double-glazed units. We can also incorporate toughened safety glass wherever it is required. You may also choose a combination of plain glass, leading, coloured panels and stained glass. Where you have existing designs in stained or coloured glass, we can recreate this in authentic detail.

Coloured glass panels can be recreated by our craftsmen.

If you have windows that are in need of attention but do not warrant replacement; or if you live in a listed property where the original windows need to be preserved as completely as possible, our craftsmen can provide a full refurbishment service.

We remove each window carefully, installing temporary glazing whilst we restore the originals in our workshops. We do our utmost to preserve the glass, lead and all the rust-free metalwork. Where necessary we will fabricate replacement sections using identical or very similar materials, integrating them seamlessly into the original. Once we have restored the entire window we apply durable rust protection and other appropriate finishes, before installing it carefully back into the property.

refurbishments

Our clients include the National Trust, English Heritage and owners of innumerable period properties, large and small. For more information and a no-obligation survey and quotation, please contact us.

Windows are assessed to see if repairs are possible.

The repaired window is prepared for finishing.

New sections can be fabricated and welded into sound metalwork.

A finish is applied to match the original window.

Our double hung box sash windows are crafted in highest quality oak or hardwood and can be manufactured to match existing designs. They incorporate boxes for weights, cords and pulleys and can be either single or double glazed to meet current building regulations.

Our attention to detail extends to the selection of high quality handles, latches and other window furniture that we offer. We will help you choose items that are appropriate to the period of your home, whilst in many cases providing extra, hidden security and ventilation features.

If you would prefer to have exact replicas of your original window furniture, our blacksmith is happy to oblige. Again, we may be able to modify them subtly to add features that make your period home more comfortable, safe and secure.

maintenance fitting

Whilst the treatments we apply to the wood and metal of our windows all provide excellent protection and durability, they will require some routine maintenance. This varies according to the finish you have chosen: For example, powder-coated steel requires little more than wiping down, whilst treated oak will require a fresh application every few years.

If low maintenance is important to you, then please tell us when you are choosing your windows, so we can help you make the right choice.

All of our installations are undertaken by the same small team of craftsmen who hand-make the windows and who provide our acclaimed window restoration service for listed buildings. They are all employed directly by the company and most have been with us since learning their trade from our more senior craftsmen.

Everyone here takes immense pride in their work, so there is little surprise that our installations are completed with the same perfectionism and attention to detail that characterises the windows themselves.

Once we have finished, you will be hard-pressed to see any evidence of our presence: Our craftsmen are careful to protect the fabric of the building when removing old windows; they make sure that each window is made to exactly the right dimensions; and they are every bit as skilled at making good plasterwork as they are at creating original woodwork, metalwork and leading.
